From a Texas letter: "The mesquite gum of Texas possesses all the qualities of gum Arabic, and I notice that it is beginning to become a commodity of exbeing the become a commodity of export; large quantities have been gathered and shipped this season. This is a wonderful tree. It has been demonstrated that it is the best hedging plant, and certainty surpasses all other timber for fire wood; and for fence posts it is only second to the bois d'arc. It is a very rapid growth. Vast forests of it are now growing on our Western prairies, where a few years ago, not a sprig was to be seen."
